Dear Parent/Carers

Jeans for Genes

Next week at Oaklands, we will be raising awareness for the charity 'Jeans for Genes'.

The Jeans for Genes campaign raises awareness of the daily challenges faced by those living with a genetic disorder and raises money to fund projects that make a tangible difference to the lives of those affected.

In key stage three, during the creative art lessons within school our pupils will be redesigning pairs of jeans that will be turned into a piece of art to show our support and raise awareness for this good cause. For further information about the charity please use the web address below.

We are not asking for any donations but if you would like to donate to the charity please follow the link on the school website or use the web address below.

Pictures of the re-designed jeans will be on display on the school Facebook page once completed.

Yours Sincerely
